Headteacher's Message

Dear parents and carers,

I wanted to end this half term by thanking you all for your support and positive feedback; particularly during the days we have experienced adverse weather. As a teacher, I loved snowy school days: rolling giant snowballs, building snowmen and making snow angels in the playground with my class. Since becoming a headteacher, these days instead fill me with dread—having to make decisions based on unpredictable weather and vastly differing family circumstances for both staff and pupils.

However, you all know me well enough by now to know that safety is prioritised over everything else and I am grateful for your understanding and also proud of how well our school community responds to the ever-changing weather conditions! Surely we must be due some clear, crisp Spring days next half term?

I'll leave you with a few examples of the children's creations from Art week last week. Have a wonderful half term break and we look forward to seeing everyone back in school on Monday 19th February.
